Brad Wilde

Miravista Holdings, LLC

- I've GOT A longtime investment and development real estate practice
- That GIVES Opportunities to leverage into off-market transactions and take advantage of market insights
- That GETS Outsize returns, trust, and assertive market penetration
- I want HELP Re-energizing and re-focus on real estate business following startup and wind down of behavioral healthcare and substance use disorder platform

BIOGRAPHY

Brad Wilde is the Manger/Owner of Miravista Holdings, a real estate investment and development entity that has been active in metropolitan Phoenix for over 35 years.

From early in his career, Mr. Wilde has sought out and focused on off-market projects fraught with both complexity and strong economic potential. An early effort involved the acquisition and exchange of nearly 12,500 acres of private and public (BLM) lands. The BLM received some 7,500 acres of private (now public) lands along the I-17 corridor, north of Phoenix. The project team (in the exchange) took title to over 5,000 acres of property north of Casa Grande – now called “Copper Mountain.”

Over the years, Mr. Wilde and his team focused their efforts on brownfield properties – those with blighted or challenging environmental issues. An example of some of those transformational projects include:

- Playa del Norte, Tempe (13 acres)
 - o Underdeveloped north side of Tempe Town Lake to office, retail, residential and hospitality
- Valley Steel and Supply, Tempe (22 acres)
 - o Heavy industrial scrap and recycling yard to warehouse and light manufacturing
- Southwest Wholesale Cooperative, Phoenix (25 acres)
 - o Remediation of a heavy industrial rail-served site...to a City of Phoenix airport parking facility

A noteworthy project was the assemblage and remediation of some 110 acres of property, including 50 parcels of former county lands. A redevelopment district was formed, property annexed into Tempe, the overall site remediated and de-listed from the Superfund...and “Tempe Marketplace” became a premier retail destination in metropolitan Phoenix. The effort, a public/private partnership with Tempe, won a Valley Forward “Environmental Excellence” award.

Each of these efforts, and several others, brought about physical transformation to these sites, but most importantly – jobs, housing, sales and property taxes for the community.

Key to Brad’s ongoing success is his commitment to neighborhood and community engagement. For almost 30 years, Brad volunteered his time and experience to Crossroads, Inc. – the largest (in-patient) substance abuse provider in Metropolitan Phoenix. Since its founding over 60 years ago, Crossroads has provided services to over 65,000 men and women – and their families. Brad was directly responsible for the planning and acquisition of Crossroads’ last 6 (of 8 total) facilities. Over the years, as a board member, and the Board Chairman, Brad helped shepherd the organization’s growth from a small (2 facilities) halfway house to a substantial and well-respected behavioral health treatment center.

Additional Community engagement efforts also included, Mens Art Council, Board Member of Phoenix Art Museum, Board Member of Rio Salado Foundation, and the ASU Presidents Club.

Mr. Wilde is a native of suburban Chicago and a graduate of the University of Arizona (political science and economics) and has professional affiliations that include the Urban Land Institute and Pinal Partnership.

BIOGRAPHY

I planned to write a clever bio during my layover in San Jose, but I ended up taking an elderly woman in a wheelchair to the bathroom. There were no airline attendants and the gate agent couldn't even watch our bags. So I asked a man in another wheelchair to watch our carry-on bags (no way HE could take off with them!) and helped my new friend.

So here are the facts:
Born and raised in Denver, CO as an academic nerd (valedictorian, full academic scholarship to Vanderbilt, Truman Scholar, etc.)

Escaped becoming a ski bum by moving to Hawaii where I discovered the joy of golf on a bank expense account. In my spare time I convinced wealthy people to rearrange their financial lives and pay us thousands of dollars a year to make sure everything went smoothly when they died. Plus I trained others to do the same. My most effective seminars took place at the 19th hole.

Turns out that was like Navy SEAL boot camp for selling things people can taste, touch, test drive, see results while they're alive, and even get a money back refund!

- I want HELP raising $20m this year for our new real estate investment fund, to amplify this impact and enrich even more lives.

BIOGRAPHY

A very British American, driven by an enduring question: "How can I make this better?" especially in homes, health, and human potential. Everything I do is to get closer to my intentionally unreachable goal of better homes, health and lives for all.

Hubby, pops to 5, grandpops to 2, I'm a personal growth obsessive and health super-geek (alter ego: "The Not Doc"). An avid reader and amateur coach/therapist, I'm open-minded, occasionally obstinate, and always on the quest for better, whilst loving right now. Liverpool FC fan, sun and nature lover, meat-eater, and unapologetically barefooted. While I've got a knack for appreciation, I'm refining my art of praise & recognition. And I think I'm much funnier than I actually am.

If I can help you, I want to, so please ask:

BIOGRAPHY

My life today is all about having fun helping others WIN and living life to the fullest as a husband, father, author, inventor, investor and entrepreneur head quartered in my home town, Seattle, Washington. I started my first business at the age of 19 and built it into an 8-figure autonomous business in Aerospace and Space and Defense Manufacturing. As a seasoned entrepreneur and Angel Investor, I've experienced a wide variety of businesses from Precision Robotic Manufacturing, Industrial and Green Energy Automation, SaaS, Commercial and Residential real estate, Industrial Product Solutions, Business Consulting, Private Coaching/Mentoring and publishing to founding and growing my life's work through my transformational personal and product growth platforms... lvn|kzn (livin kaizen) and LegacyMaker.co

I've been in business over 35 years, which afforded me the opportunity to take a 10 yr sabbatical (2005-2015) to fulfill my ultimate dream... be a full-time dad to Ashley (26) and Dylan (24) and full-time husband to my wife Lisa of 29 yrs.

After returning from my decade sabbatical, I reinvented my Aerospace company and launched and invested in a number of complimentary businesses over the last few years and have never been more excited to transition from a crazy entrepreneur to a "Next Level Founder"!!

I'm an all-season outdoor enthusiast... mostly powered adrenaline sports and nearly all activities ending "ing"... boating, fly fishing(passion), skiing, snowmobiling, shooting, hiking, mountain biking, paddle boarding, off-roading, etc... the best part is enjoying these amazing activities while "working" and creating memories with my family and friends.

Life hasn't always been this fun...I know pain and childhood trauma... suffered (like most entrepreneurs) from horrible ADD, OCD and dyslexia, dad left me at 12, lost my brother at 26, blinded in my left eye at 26, horrible relationships, health issues, bad alcohol and food addiction, gained over 100lbs, business failures losing millions....

Then I created lvn|kzn and LegacyMaker.co, wrote my first book "Your Life Is Not Your Fault...Until It Is" and life became fun and exciting... I lost 104 lbs, developed amazing relationships and in the best mental and physical shape of my life.

My passion and super power is helping others discover and monetize their unique ability.

Time to have fun doing life and business together!
Let's go serve others!

- I want HELP systemizing and scaling my business. Also, creating an online education course and marketing it to further enhance psychedelic therapy

BIOGRAPHY

I am a Board Certified Anesthesiologist and I've been practicing medicine since 2016. I completed three degrees at Drexel University in Philadelphia, PA: a Bachelor in Finance, a Master in Business Administration, and a Doctor of Medicine. I went on to complete residency at the Mount Sinai Morningside-West Hospital System in New York, NY and post-graduate fellowship at Stanford Medical Center in Palo Alto, CA.

I moved to Arizona in 2018 and met my wife here in 2019. We have a daughter who's almost 8 months, and her smiles remind us how grateful we are to be living this life. I'm a hiker, traveler, foodie, poker player, and avid meditator.

I transitioned from traditional anesthesiology to practicing psychedelic medicine in 2020 because I'm disheartened by the way medicine is currently practiced. The healthcare system has become a high-volume low-quality business that focuses on cutting costs in the wrong places and doing more procedures that don't address the root cause of patients' problems. The work I'm doing now is much more spiritually rewarding and I'm still amazed how quickly we can optimize people's mindset with ketamine.

Classic overachiever (still living in denial) looking for a better, more satisfying lifestyle, loves to work with people who still believe that they can make a difference in this world. By trade, I have a law office that specializes in family owned and privately held businesses, helping those businesses to grow. We are business people first, as I have been a real estate developer and involved in a corrugated box plant started from a greenfield operation. I like to think that the lens that I look through is different than any other law office as we think business issues first, as I have been there myself. I love to learn from learning from Dan Sullivan in Strategic Coach™ to a Master Mind Group with Nido Qubein, or reading a book to learn about why we should be optimistic for the future of our planet. BIOGRAPHY

Married since 2006, a father since 2008, and a business owner since 2010.

I didn't grow up with the language of entrepreneurship, but I had the instinct. At 24, I was building websites, which turned into Focus Lab — a full-fledged business. Suddenly there were people to employ. There was a culture to create. I knew how to build websites, but what did it take to build a team?

Since then, I've pursued that question. Intrigued by people, teamwork, and leadership, I learned everything I could. At first, I imagined creating just one healthy work culture — my own, at Focus Lab. We achieved that, learning in the process that healthy work cultures have the power to impact much more than just the professional setting. They can enrich home lives, personal relationships, and even whole communities. I wondered, "What if I keep doing this, over and over, for more people and leaders and teams? What would the impact be then?"

Today, with my new business called Built on Purpose, I help owners, entrepreneurs, and leaders think differently about what work can be. I specialize in building cultures and teams, guiding my clients to rediscover their professional purpose, and showing them that it's possible to nourish their work and home lives equally, in a way that allows both to flourish.

Through this, he developed a brain regenerative program and a nasal spray that specifically targets neuroinflammation in the brain. He utilizes sound and laser technology, regenerative medicine, mind-body techniques, and other procedures to correct the body's control systems and protect the body's energy. He believes the future of medicine lies in frequency, and he's leading the way in bringing bioenergetics mainstream.

- I've GOT a coaching and consulting business.
- That GIVES people insight from a professional problem solver that will help pinpoint their issues, solve them and achieve their goals.
- That GETS you more profits with less stress and increases production with the systems and process to maintain it.

BIOGRAPHY

Hi, I'm Janna Wheeler.
I led as the CEO, and I was a business partner for over 20 years for a waste management and portable sanitation company. We sold our business in October 2023.
Using my attention to details and knowing how everything works inside and out, along with my creativity, critical thinking, and problem-solving skills, we were able to create systems and processes to help our companies be proactive, solve problems and improve the overall success.
Our business was not for sale, but our competitor desperately wanted the secrets to our success, so they gave us an offer we could not refuse. I worked with their acquisition team, and we closed in 7 months, which was pretty quick for a deal our size. I got kudos from the CEO, he told me I absolutely knew my business inside and out and working with me really made this a whole lot easier than most. Out of 19 deals, my knowledge around the business and ease of getting the due diligence stuff done really made this an exceptional one. And after three months into the transition, he told us that this purchase was the best one they acquired, and it has tremendous value with the systems and process we have in place. They have not purchased a company that they wanted to model what they were doing until us.
I'm consulting for the company that purchased us and helping them implement a lot of the systems and processes.
I want to grow my consulting and coaching business, invest in real estate, start a podcast, and in the future do some speaking events and write books.

- I want HELP Finding those small industrial product companies, and people who want to partner in these companies

BIOGRAPHY

After three decades of industrial company experience, John Dalton created Industrial Device Investments in 2017, to broaden investment in and acquisition of industrial products companies. IDI now has four companies. Please visit us at www.idinvest.net.

Dalton serves as CEO and chair of Perceptics. Perceptics was acquired from Northrop Grumman in 2006, and formed the cornerstone of IDI. Dalton was active in daily operations for 11 years, but now focuses on capital allocation and strategy. In 2019, Perceptics had a crisis that reshaped the company, starting with cyber-attack and causing cancellation of contracts by Perceptics largest customer. We continue to forge the company for the future.

Dalton also serves as chairman of Materials Research Furnaces, LLC, an IDI investment in 2018. MRF builds high temperature furnaces for ceramics, electronic component and other part production. Dalton has focused on building the team and strengthening customer relationships and market focus, and IDI has continued to invest strongly.

In 2019, IDI invested in Proton Power, Inc., and Dalton joined the board. PPI manufactures environmental equipment and specialized materials including graphene.

Lastly, Dalton serves as chair with Tread Corporation, a global leader in mining equipment manufacturing. Dalton & IDI were recruited by Tread's lender to help reinvigorate the brand, after previous upper management and ownership had been dysfunctional.

Previously, Mr. Dalton was with SouthPointe Ventures, a private equity fund in Atlanta, Georgia, acting as the fund's operating partner. Prior to SouthPointe, he has seventeen years of operating experience, starting with Fortune 500 General Electric and Black & Decker, and including senior leadership positions with smaller organizations focused on unique technologies within basic industries. He holds a BSME from Cornell and an MBA degree from UNC.

Dalton is involved with a variety of community stewardship causes. In Atlanta, he was volunteer at MUST homeless ministries, and later served on the board and had active involvement with Crossroads Community Ministries for homeless. Dalton founded the Perceptics Foundation in Knoxville in 2008, which supports employees and families, where they give time and money to nonprofits, with a three times (3X) match. The Foundation, a Genius 10 Minute Talk topic, now serves all IDI companies, has had a significant impact in Tennessee, New Hampshire and now Virginia, and recently passed $1.5 million in matching donations. Dalton and his wife Sandy live in Knoxville, and their five children are scattered about: Mark (26), Chris (24), Ari (19), Connor (17) and Krystin (11). They are active attendees at Two Rivers Church.

BIOGRAPHY

I love where I went to college. I have a Bachelor of Science in Electrical Engineering from MIT as part of the graduating class of 1986. Does anyone remember Heathkit? That was my passion in High School and led to me getting that degree. While I may not have directly utilized my degree in my professional life, I consider myself fortunate to have been accepted into a prestigious institution that prioritized problem-solving skills over mere memorization for exams. Yes, I still open things today just to see how they are put together even though they claim there are "no user serviceable parts inside." I applied that problem-solving skill to turning around a family plastic packaging business after my father passed away in 1993. The business was headed for certain bankruptcy at the time. I had my own way of describing its problems, but in general I think Clate Mask covered it best. (Look up his talk at the Genius Network offices entitled "From $10 Million to $100 Million: Three Big Lessons for Growing and Scaling Your Business") I knew I was not an operator, so I needed to hire one. I found someone to be COO that the business could grow into. He came off a non-compete from a $300M business with 13 facilities. When he joined us we were a troubled $45M business with only 4 locations. When I sold the business in 2008 for $500M (13 years later) we had become a $300M business with 15 locations. Yet, the first-best move I made at the time was hiring a change agent for the short time in between when I fired the previous COO and hired the new COO. It prepared the foundation for the success that would be created for those 13 years ahead. The second-best move was a change in mindset from being an "owner" to an "investor". Though those words did not change anything in the "real world" they allowed me to see the business in a different light. The third-best move I made was partnering with the right Private Equity firm in 2004. I was able to take some money off the table, beginning a slow shift to helping other entrepreneurs change the world. In those short four years until the sale of the business I was able to 10x the cash I kept in the business.

In 2015, I exited the plastic packaging industry entirely after selling a business in The Netherlands for 42M €. That business started with a small group of people in 1995 and unknowingly began a theme of partnering with awesome people trying to build great things. One of the most exciting rides was with Bron Media Corporation, which included Bron Studios, Bron Animation, Bron Digital, and others. From its humble start in 2011, it saw records set with the largest sale at a film festival (for BIRTH OF A NATION sold to Fox Searchlight), the largest television deal (for the untitled Aniston-Witherspoon drama sold to Apple), and highest grossing R-rated film JOKER taking in $1,074,251,311. To date, Bron has 32 Academy Award Nominations and 6 wins, including BOMBSHELL, ROMAN J. ISRAEL ESQ., FENCES, and JOKER. Then COVID-19 emerged, abruptly halting production and closing theaters. Then a market arose no longer valuing growth over profitability. Then a writer's strike happened. All of this led to filing for creditor protection in 2023. The good news is that I see a tax holiday coming soon for myself! More seriously, the good news is that lack of debt and massive diversification still holds a world of opportunity for the future. Today I am invested in over 200 startups across many different sectors including Blockchain / Crypto, Aerospace, VR / AR, SaaS, Finance, Education, Real Estate, AI/ML, Payments, Hardware, Cleantech, Healthcare, Consumer, Productivity, and more. Some are direct and very focused investments, others are through SPVs leveraging other people as mentors and connectors. This does not include the Fund level investments I have made. In this area, I am grateful to have very long term relationships with Lux Capital, Whitebox Advisors, Elliott Associates, and others. I have been on the Innovation Board for the XPRIZE Foundation. Seeded money for what turned into the Global Learning XPRIZE. I was a member of TEC 100 which turned into Vistage. I am now an emeritus member of TIGER 21. I am currently a member of the 25k Group at Genius. I was SCUBA certified in 1978. Love roller coasters. Have a gun collection for a home range. I still maintain my Triploi membership and am certified to fly Level 2 High Powered Rockets.

In summary, if family business, succession, private equity, selling your business, managing a "family office", finding a new life past your "career", investing, exploring new technologies, or anything else above, is anything of interest to you, reach out. Let's talk. I am known for being the one person in the room that is going to say something different from everyone else. If I can make your path shorter or give you a different perspective, that would be amazing. I am NOT looking for deal flow or any other longer term time commitments, so please be respectful of that fact.

Max Hansen

BIOGRAPHY

I have dedicated the last two decades of my life to providing the best hiring practices in leadership search and consulting. I was fortunate that my first job after graduating with a Bachelor's Degree from Northern Arizona in Business Administration was with the Fortune 50 Recruiting firm Allegis Group / Aerotek. This experience provided me a solid foundation for understanding both best in class business systems and selection processes.

In January of 2002, I founded my first recruiting/search firm, Job Brokers, Inc. Together with my team, we went on to hire more than 30,000 people across a wide swath of industries including engineering, manufacturing, education, healthcare, distribution, mining, finance, technology, and apparel. We proudly grew our annual revenues in excess of $35 million and expanded into other divisions and brands. The most notable being Y Scouts in 2012.

Why Y Scouts? Somewhere along the line in 2010-2011, the traditional contingent hiring model wasn't allowing me to help organizations solve the deeper rooted issues they were facing around their hiring practices. My desire to help organizations with the root of their challenges, along with the lack of meaning in my work, pushed me to create the first ever purpose-based leadership search firm. In 2015, I sold all my interests in three traditional recruiting companies to more aggressively pursue building Y Scouts and Purposed-based Leadership Search.

I am incredibly proud to be part of the Purpose Movement and a founding member of the Y Scouts team. I love the personal development I benefit from while working with Conscious Leaders. I enjoy helping them and their organizations continuously improve and succeed as high performing cultures and teams. The root of our work goes deeper – towards individual purpose, building true relationships, relentless learning, love, and their ultimate intersection.

The only sustainable business strategy is hiring the right leaders and team members. I find it fascinating that as our world gets more complex with technological breakthroughs, the demand for great leaders and people is at an all-time high.

A little more about Max:

- Husband to Bryna and loving Father/Stepfather to 5 amazing kids.
- Interested in anything that involves going fast with the possibility of catching air
- An avid golfer and played or coached football, basketball, baseball, and soccer.
- Seahawks Fan – Go Hawks!

BIOGRAPHY

Mike Agugliaro is a lifelong student of martial arts, human performance, and the transformation of potential into mastery.

Mike started his professional career as an electrician and soon discovered that he'd rather work for himself than as an employee. He started Gold Medal Electric with a business partner. The early years in the truck were a challenging lesson that he didn't want to grind out the long hours in cold basements or hot attics. After his business partner almost burnt out and quit, Mike decided to transform the company by applying his passion for education and mastery to his business.

In just ten years, he grew the company, rebranded Gold Medal Service, from under $1 million to one of New Jersey's largest home service companies, generating over $32 million a year with 200 employees and 165 trucks. In 2017, the company was acquired by a private equity firm for an industry record-setting buyout. Mike signed the papers and walked away from the company the very next day.

He switched his focus from running a home service company to helping other home service companies, and he grew his next business, CEO Warrior, into an 8-figure success story that shattered industry perceptions. CEO Warrior is a coaching, training, and implementation organization that teaches best practices, systems, and business strategy to home service companies (including HVAC, plumbing, and electrical companies). In less than 4 years, the company rapidly grew to serve hundreds of clients in 42 industries and 5 countries around the world. Collectively, those clients generated more than half a billion dollars in additional revenue from working with CEO Warrior.

In 2020, Mike yet again defined industry conventions when CEO Warrior partnered with a private equity firm (even in the midst of a pandemic and other organizations were shutting down), which launched the company to yet another level to serve the industry.

Mike is also the a founder of another company, The FuDog Group, a human performance training company that helps people discover and achieve their potential in life, career, wealth, and fitness.

Within its first week of operation, The FuDog Group launched its first training and closed nearly 6 figures in revenue from a single offer.

In 2022 Mike once again had more to build and started a partnership company called Business Forge. This is a company where we take equity in companies with the soul purpose to grow to a legacy style exit for good hearted business owners.

Mike is a relentless creator with over 25 books written (and several more in production), countless videos, and a strong social presence. As a speaker, he commands 5-figure fees and has shared the stage with authors and experts like Jay Abraham, Brian Tracy, Larry Winget, Dean Jackson, Robin Robins, Mike Michalowicz, Tim Grover, and many more.

Mike is also a relentless student, studying everything from energy healing to copywriting in a never-ending quest to soak up knowledge and gain mastery.

Mike has perfected the art and science of personal human performance, and applies what he learns in all aspects of life, from family and relationships to health and fitness to career and wealth.

When he's not building businesses, writing books, or studying, Mike is practicing in his dojo (he holds an 8th degree Black Belt in Jinsei Ryu Budo).

Mike lives at the Jersey Shore with his wife (Jennifer) of 38 years and two children (Michael, 24 and Katelyn, 22).

She currently serves on the Entrepreneurial Leadership Council (ELC) for Southern Utah University mentoring students in the Entrepreneurial and Business programs.

She recently became involved with a payment processing company providing honest solutions with a strategic approach to help reduce fees and potentially turn an expense into a profit center.

If not working on a new venture, Sheila unwinds by expressing herself artistically, painting, kayaking, playing poker, restoring classic cars, closing real estate deals, and spending quality time traveling with friends and family.

Sheila has been married to Patty Flock for 23 years and they, with their pup Theo, call sunny Phoenix, Arizona home.
